What do these changes mean to you, our customer?

Call it an evolution...

Over sixteen years ago when our family started HELP ME!! Computers we had one mission: to provide San Antonio the best computer service at an affordable price. As computers and network systems have evolved so have our technical services.

To better reflect those advances we are proud to announce our new name, Help Me!! Tech Team. This is considered a new division/dba of HELP ME!! Computers, LLC which remains our parent company. You will see only one logo advertised; however, you can make checks payable to us in either name.

Our knowledge is your gain...

While you could always count on your "fast, friendly, honest, experts" to keep abreast of new technologies and how they work for you...we've taken it to another level.

Your Help Me!! Tech Team has been hard at work training with new and old partners to expand our solutions to make your technology life easier. "Our Essential Technology Solutions" combined with our Team Philosophy make us the technology teammate that you will continue to look to in the future to keep you moving in the right direction for yourself and your business. These solutions are not new to us, but some (i.e., Telecommunications, Security & Managed Services) have been greatly enhanced to better meet your needs...even the ones you aren't yet aware of.

Today, we're even better able to provide San Antonio the best service at an affordable price!

What makes us special in a sea of technology "experts"?
